

for the years that he was in this body and in politics.

Many of us, when we come to this body, seek out and observe people and try to emulate them and identify with them. We call them our role models. Those of us who do that, and I am one of those, all considered JULIAN DIXON a role model. Even those of us whose styles may have been more vocal and sometimes more shrill aspired to be like JULIAN DIXON because he could influence others, not so much by shrillness or public speaking but just because of his wisdom and knowledge of issues and his quiet, calm way of dealing with issues. We admired that about JULIAN.

He was a gentleman in the truest sense of the word. He respected others, regardless of how they chose to express themselves. He quite often, after I would come to the floor and make statements, he would come and say you really made a good speech. He fortunately never came and said I made a bad speech, but probably when he thought I was making a bad speech or overdoing it he just maintained his quiet, cool, calm demeanor and did not say anything.

I admired this man immensely, and I think we all admired him immensely for that gentle approach, that gentlemanly approach to issues.

As many of my colleagues have said today, it would take a special person with a special kind of relationship to other colleagues in this body to chair the Ethics Committee, and to chair the Ethics Committee during a time when the Speaker of the House was being investigated and to steer this body through that process and still have the respect and admiration of all of his colleagues.

I think that probably summarizes and personifies the kind of person that JULIAN DIXON was, and that all of us perceived him as being; a balanced, thoughtful, gentlemanly person. He is going to be missed by this body, by his district, by America, and I personally will miss him immensely.

Mr. Speaker, I just want to again express our sincere condolences to family, friends, staff, constituents.

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, as the leader of the Democrats in the House and as a Member of the House, I rise to express our collective grief and sadness at the suddenness of this very, very, very negative event that has happened to all of us.

I have served here nearly my entire time with JULIAN DIXON, and, as others have said, I have never known a more gentle, conciliatory, wonderful human being as we have known in JULIAN DIXON. He served in this body in the most sensitive and difficult positions. He served as chairman of the Committee on Ethics in some of the stormiest and most difficult times in our past; he has been ranking member on the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence; he has been a subcommittee chairman and then ranking member on the Committee on Appropriations.

All of that is important, but I guess what is most important to me, and I think to all of us, is that he embodied to us the best in public life. He was a beautiful human being. He loved others, he cared for others. Everything that he did was with grace and excellence. He typified what it means in this country and in the world to be a public servant.

We are deeply saddened by this unexpected tragedy. Our hearts and our prayers go out to his family, go out to his constituents, go out to all of his beloved friends, in California and around the country.

To the members of the California delegation, all of us give our deepest sympathy, and all of us will pray in the days ahead for the comfort and understanding on behalf of his family and his loved ones.
